Jim Kemmish was a long-time friend of mine, and we shared many times together when Jim & his wife lived in Walla Walla, WA, home to his first employments after graduation from Washington State University. His management training class with Seattle First National Bank transferred him to Seattle but we still stayed in contact and attended several Cougar Football games together. Jim served as an Army Combat Officer during Vietnam and afterwards returned to continue work in Seattle's banking industry. He was a man of compassion, honesty and dependability. I will miss my friend dearly.
